Singapore, 17 August 2021 – Street culture enthusiast, digital artist and Southeast Asia’s top virtual influencer, Rae (@here.is.rae) debuts her first music video “WORLDS” with Singapore musician and songwriter Benjamin Kheng (@benjaminkheng). The first-of-its-kind collaboration between human and virtual being in Asia also showcases Rae’s voice which was generated via text-to-speech (TTS) technology. Fans can view “WORLDS” on Rae’s Instagram and Weibo accounts as well as on her website hereisrae.com.

Enabled by AI and machine learning, Rae’s newest TTS voice generation technology allows audio content to be generated almost instantly. The technology also allows Rae to express her bold personality through a new medium, deepening her engagement with her followers in the digital world and online communities. As a virtual being, Rae speaks in an alto tone with a slight robotic pitch. She is effectively bilingual in English and Mandarin, opening up room for more versatility and creativity in content formats for collaborations.

Rae said: “Finding my voice and working on my first music video has been an empowering experience. It was a blast working with Ben for “WORLDS”. The song is a natural extension of our interactions across two realms – Ben in the physical and myself in the metaverse. To create a new experience, we experimented with an electronic treatment for my voice, in contrast to Ben’s vocals. I enjoyed every bit of the co-creation process, from the recording to the filming of the music video. For me, the song expresses the friendships and rapport I’ve established with every individual across our universes. It’s about how our worlds, while different, can converge and connect. I hope that fans will enjoy checking out the video and listening to the new release.”

On his first collaboration with a virtual being, Benjamin Kheng, songwriter of “WORLDS” said: “The song was written about a loved one who passed on, and how I missed her so much I'd dream of lifetimes with her. I was so curious as to how working with Rae would be, but finally meeting ‘her’ was a blast. She might be virtual but she, her team and the whole process felt real ‘real’ to me.”
